STEAMBOAT EXPLOSION.

The Ordensburg Northern Light states that the steamboat Paul Pry, which has been undergoing repairs at that place, while in the act of trying her engine on Thursday last, burst her boiler, and scalded a fireman named George Smith so badly that he is not expected to recover.

The three masted steam packet Virginia, Capt. James Hart, left this port this morning on her first trip for Charleston. She had on board a number of passengers for the south ern part of our country, and some on their way for New Orleans, via the Charleston and Augusta Rail-road. The enterprize is a good one, and we have no doubt will be crowned with success .- Patriot.

COLUMBIA, (Mo.) Nov. 9.
RETURN OF THE SANTA FE TRA-DERS.

About one hundred of our fellow-citizens have, within a few days past returned to their homes in this and the adjacent counties, from Santa. Fe, in New Mexico. They have throught with them, we understand, from eighty to one hundred thousand dollars in specie, besides a large quantity of furs, mules, &c. the value of which we have not heard stated, but will, undoubtedly, produce a large sum. We are pleased to learn that the traders met with no molestation from the Indians on the route, and that they have generally made profitable adventures.

This trade which is principally carried on by the citizens of the Western part of Missouri, has now become of considerable importance. Specie, furs, mules, &c. are annually brought from that country to a very large amount.

HPDROPHOBIA.

The Williamsport (Pa.) Gazette, mentions a case of this terrible disease, which occurred in the vicinity of that town, and which terminated fatally on the 12th inst. It was that of a man named Evan Paulhemus, aged So. A few weeks since, Mr. P. had been bitten, by his own dog, in the arm immediately a-bove the wrist. Instead of using prompt and energetic remedies, or rather preventives, at home—the unfortunate man was induced to put faith in the report that there was a medi-cal practitioner in York Co. who had an infallible cure for the disease; and he repaired thither for the purpose of availing himself of it. He procured the infallible remedy, and returned home with a mind at ease. But not with stand the admiration of the factoring the ling this appliance, after the lapse of five or six weeks, he became sick, and on calling in a physician, the well known symptoms of that awful disease were too soon recognized. In Mission of the Indiana Conference held defining of any means of prevention or cure at that stage of the disease, it continued its dreadful march for several days, and until it ended in the death of the unfortunate sufferer. The specific, which should cure hydro-phobia, is not yet discovered: And until it shall be, it may well be said, in reference to this disease, that an ounce of 'prevention' is worth more than a pound of 'cure.'

FOREIGN.

ONE DAY LATER FROM ENGLAND. By the arrival at Buston of the ship Graf ton, Captain Crowell, from Liverpool, we have advices from London of the evening of the 8th of (Ictober, and Liverpool of the 9th, being one day later than previous advices. The following summary is copied from the Boston papers: Considerable excitement was created in Leeds, by the death of a boy by the name of Samuel Tomlinson, who worked in a factory, occasioned by ill usage of an overseer by name of Joseph Radcliffe. The boy had been severely beaten repeatedly, and on one occasion had been lung up by the neck for several minutes by a rope. He was taken down alive, but was so injured, as in the opinion of an attending surgeon, to cause his death, within about four weeks afterwards. It also appeared that he had been ill used and at times was nearly famished.—The hanging was considered as the remote cause of his death. His neck bone was injured so as to induce disease Considerable excitement was created in neck bone was injured so as to induce disease in that region. A jury which sat on the case, had returned a verdict of manslaughter against Radcliffe, who was to be tried for the offence at the next Assizes. The London papers of the 8th, and Parls papers of the 7th, are occupied with specula-tions of the affairs of Spain, but add nothing obstruct to the information previously in our postession. The Marquis of Casa Yrujo had passed through Bordoaux on a special mission from the Queen to the French Court. It and two children.

The German papers continue to declare, that the Emperor of Austria is to assume the title of Emperor of Germany, and is to have an interview with the Germany, and is to have an interview with the German Princess at Lintz or Vienna, and that a Congress of Ministers is to be held in the Austrian capital, as was stated in our former advices. A conflict in which some blood was shed, took place between the military and the inhabitants of Debut in Princess and Academy Capital Season Durkeim in Bavaria, on the 28th of Septem-

On the arrival of the Emperor of Russia a Modlin, a deputation from Warsaw waited upon him, but he refused to receive them; declaring that he came merely to see his army, but would not return to Warsaw, until the inhabitants had -re-established themselves in his good opinion.

Bulletin of the 29th, in the afternoon, trans mitted to the secretary of State.

'My Lord,—I enclose to your excellency the official part of the bulletin which was forwarded to me by the physicians of the King's Household, announcing to me the decease of the King our Sovereign; and as that fatal and painful event must be announced to the pub-lic L bog your Excellency to have It inserted in the Gazette,. May God preserve you many years:
At the palace. Sept. 29.

'To his excellency the Dake of Hijar.' The official part of said despatch is to the following effect:My Lord at the moment we announced yesterday, to your excellency, the situation of the king our master, no material alteration was observed, but his state of debility continued. This morning we found his majes-ty's right hand paralysed; and although that symptom appeared to be confined to the arm, we nevertheless, remarked a fath ubstruction in the lungs. We then applied blisters to his breast, and two others to his lower series his breast, and two others to his lower extre-mities, in addition to those which had been mities, in addation to those which we several days previously applied to those parts, and to the back of his neck. We remained for some time by his majesty's bedside, and the preceding days. We saw him eat as on the preceding days. We left him in the company of her majesty, the Queen in order to allow him to take a little rest, according to his habit; but within a quarter to three o'clock his majesty experienced an attack of apoplexy which, in less than five minutes terminated so precious an existence. God may keep you, &c.
